b. Monthly newsletter counting: Sir Speedy did the count and charged Melinda $10 which she agreed to. Dave will email Melinda and offer for the association to pay for the fee.

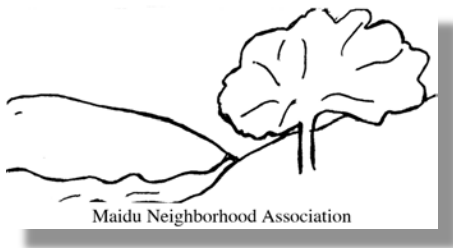

c. Dry Creek Greenway – Donna Wilson article request: The alternatives are to publish the piece as well as a second article presenting the other position, or writing a piece ourselves including some of the arguments from both sides. The general consensus is the latter position. Lance will write the article which will be reviewed by David and Shirley.

9. New Business:

a. Block Captain Thank You: choices include an article in the newsletter or a thank you note from the board. Dave A. will write an article.

10. Announcements and Remarks: Mat wants to write an article for the May newsletter on speeding. Lance wants to work with he and Shawn as they are new to the neighborhood, letting them know what has already been addressed and maybe hooking them up with our police representatives. (Mat and Shawn are firefighters, working in Sacramento.) It was suggested that it was time to invite the police back to specifically speak to this issue. David A. will contact Cal to see if we can schedule the topic for the next board meeting. If we can it will be announced in the next newsletter.

BIKE TRAIL PLANS FOR LINDA CREEK OPEN SPACE INCLUDE CONCRETE RETAINING WALLS

Were you aware that plans are underway to build a bike trail through the greenbelt in the middle of Meadow Oaks and Sierra Gardens neighborhoods?

Roseville has a master plan for a city-wide paved multi-use trail. The intention is that the trail someday connect with the American River Bike trail. The construction costs are estimated to be 10 million dollars, but the city admitted costs could go as high as 20 million. The 1 mile section through Meadow Oaks is estimated to be a staggering 4 to 5 million dollars. Four sections recommended by transportation staff are in the design process with construction in our neighborhood planned to begin in about 2 years, upon completion of the environmental impact report.

Meadow Oaks (Oakridge to Rocky Ridge along Linda Creek) is unique in that it has an existing walking trail that has been used by four generations including people from Cirby Ranch and Maidu. Native Americans walked the trail and many years later it was used by the ranches in the area. The trail is a world of its own, a world that is treasured by all who visit. Those who live in the area as well as those who feel a connection, share a common desire to escape the fast moving urban pace of the day and meander along the trail. People have grown to become "trail friends" and walks are filled with hellos and brief conversations.

Because the city estimates bicycle speeds will average from 12 to 20 mph, it is no surprise the project has triggered much controversy. While cyclists do support a city wide trail, many have expressed that a high speed trail conflicts with such a family oriented area with sensitive habitat and serious erosion issues.

Due to the inherent conflicts between walkers and cyclists users' positions range from wanting no bike trail to a providing a safe, separate area for walkers.

However, while people debate the bicycle trail itself, a greater issue has been overlooked. This issue is the protection of both the wildlife and riparian habitats. Due to limited space along the Mallard properties, no environmental setback is planned. The trail must run extremely close to the creek bank past badly eroded habitat. People are not aware that the 3.5 million dollar underpass planned for Rocky Ridge will require concrete retaining walls. The habitats currently home to river otters and the last surviving, fresh water turtles in California, the Western Pond turtles, will be destroyed and replaced with concrete.

It is this writer's earnest hope that attention will be directed toward our crumbling creek banks and the loss of 300 year old trees and vegetation to erosion. Energy spent searching for bike trail grants would be better spent looking for grants to protect the existing habitat for generations to come. Only after Linda Creek banks have been preserved using bio-friendly techniques instead of concrete and rock, should attention be directed to bike trails assuming urban development is even wanted by the neighbors.
